REAL MONEY PUT UP ON ELECTION

Bet of $10,000 to $5,000 that Roosevelt Will Carry New York State Is Made and Grabbed Up Quickly To-Day.

There was some action in Wall street betting circles to-day, due to the arrival on the scene of a man with large quantities of genuine money and willing to bet it. The man was Tim F. Payne and he had a bet that would choke the subway, contributed by Timothy D. Sullivan and members of the Metropolitan Turf Association.

"Where is this $10,000 Roosevelt money?" queried Mr. Payne as he dropped a handful of $1,000 bills on the sidewalk and petulantly kicked them out of the way.

There being no reply he raised his voice in anxious desire for Roosevelt money at 4 to 1. There was none forthcoming. Finally he rounded up Fred Brooks, who is reputed to represent capitalists willing to bet a million or more.

A bet was made with Mr. Brooks, who put up $10,000 for a customer against $5,000 that Roosevelt will carry New York. The proposition looked to Payne like easy money and he wanted to double the bet, but Brooks said that he had exhausted his resources on that particular proposition.

First Bet of Importance.
This is the first bet of any importance, although there were rumors of all sorts of wagers through the district yesterday. Diligent search failed to land anybody prepared to talk business with money as a foundation.

After the close of the market the Wall street press associations were notified that there were thousands and thousands of dollars in safes and desks in the district waiting to be bet.

Pollock & Vaughn, for instance, let it be known that they had $80,000 to bet against $20,000 on Roosevelt. They also expressed a desire to bet $15,000 against $5,000 for another customer.

MAKING BALLOTS IS NO EASY TASK.

Tremendous Amount of Work Necessary to Prepare the Way for Casting the Great Vote of New York City.

A rare man is the voter who, when the day comes for him to exercise the right of suffrage, pauses to consider the labor, the material, the time and the machinery that it has cost to produce his ballot. There is no good reason why he should give the question a moment's thought at such a time, but not a few perhaps will be surprised to learn what a stupendous task it is to produce the number of ballots required in all the boroughs of New York to conduct a general election.

In such an election as will be held on Tuesday next, when national issues are to be decided, 1,000,000 ballots are necessary. There is a surplus, of course, for it would never do to have the supply become exhausted. Mistakes are made by voters and they are entitled to new ballots. The tickets are torn in distribution, and accidents happen in other ways, all of which serve to use the greater part of those printed especially to meet such exigencies.

Printed Under Eye of Police.
Martin B. Brown & Co., of No. 40 to 51 Park place, have the contract this year for printing the ballots. The work is being done under the personal direction of G. Bradford Kelso, general manager and vice-president of the concern. And over all the police maintain a supervision night and day, for the printing of ballots is made a serious business by the law; quite as serious a matter as the printing of currency at Washington. The possibilities of ballots being stolen or destroyed, of plates being changed, of a candidate's name being cut off surreptitiously must all be counted with and watched. Some one, too, with anarchistic tendencies might conceive the idea at the last moment of destroying the entire output of the ballot presses. If this were to happen the law provides that ballots shall be written, but such a contingency is not courted.

General Manager Kelso conducted a reporter for The Evening World through his big establishment to-day, and it was during this visit that the facts presented at the beginning of this article were obtained. Everywhere on two floors of the printing house were piles of ballots, ready to go to the police for distribution when the time comes.

A Two Weeks' Job.
"We are a degree past the point," said Mr. Kelso, "when one might say that the work was half done. We have been printing the faces of the ballots since Thursday last, working night and day, and there will not be a lot-up until every ballot that has been contracted for is in the hands of the police. Our responsibility will end. We began numbering the ballots and printing the outside on Friday a week ago, but it was not until last Thursday that we received the first verified copy from the Bureau of Elections, which would permit our taking up the printing of the faces of the ballots."

"That past years when this firm has had the honor of printing the ballots for the State of New York, we have no end of trouble in the matter of getting the

WHAT IS NEEDED TO FURNISH NEW YORK'S BALLOTS.

Here are some facts about the ballots necessary to conduct a general election in the city of New York:

Number of ballots required, 2,000,000.
Weight of paper used in manufacture and distribution 600 tons
Trucks needed for distribution, 300.
Drivers, 300.
Horses, 600.
Police men (about), 4,000.
Machinery—Six presses, 1000
merable cutters and stamping presses.
Labor—One hundred men and girls working night and day for from ten to twelve days.

duces these ballots. That, of course, includes duplicate ballots, enrolment ballots, wrappers, envelopes and similar accessories. It is a big lot of paper. The two million ballots are not all regular tickets. That should be apparent. That number includes the surplus allowed for mistakes and all the sample ballots. The vote of the entire city is under 700,000. The ballots at they will leave the printing house will be in sealed packages marked from 1 to 800, the quota estimated for each election precinct. They will be delivered to each police station of the district or precinct to which they belong, and from these points will be again distributed to the voting booths.

One hundred students invaded the Fifth Assembly District last night. With a large train and band of music they started on their spellbinding tour, sweeping the district with their "Rah! Rah! Rah! for Tompkins!"
